BREAKING BARRIERS & CULTIVATING COMMUNITY

GOLDEN VALLEY
HEALTH CENTERS

A MESSAGE FROM OUR CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Golden Valley Health Centers' growing patient population means we need to focus on health care delivery in new ways. In 2024, we provided more than 700,000 services to people living in the Central Valley, far more services than we ever have before. With healthcare workforce shortages, threats to Medi-Cal funding, and increased needs for healthcare, we are adapting to meet the moment.

We have recently expanded our urgent care and walk-in clinic locations to make appointments easier to access. People do not know when they will be injured or sick. So we are increasing our number of urgent care clinics and walk-in locations which never require an appointment in advance. We know that our patients appreciate that we have multiple locations available, and at least one in each county we serve.

Our pharmacy services are evolving as well. By offering patients a mobile refill app, and making prescription delivery available in most areas where our pharmacies exist, we are growing and outpacing the competition. For GVHC patients, using a GVHC pharmacy only makes sense because our providers can communicate directly with our pharmacy on your behalf. We are excited to have just opened our first pharmacy in Modesto at the beautifully remodeled 6th Street, West Modesto Clinic.

This fall, we are adding two new Medical Mobile Vans that we call GVHC Wellness on Wheels. Taking care into the areas of our community where it's most needed is as important to our team as it is to our community. Transportation barriers in rural communities can make it difficult to get to a clinic, so mobile health, telehealth and virtual appointments have become a convenient alternative.

We are also doing more to inform and support patients' unique care needs through specialty services. Just this year, GVHC has added Rheumatology, Neurology, and Endocrinology. Offering in-house specialties will ensure patients get the care they need more quickly to improve their quality of life.

Another way we are innovating on our patients' behalf is through critical partnerships, like the one we began with FOMAT, our medical research partner. FOMAT is an industry leader in clinical research bringing new, evidence-based treatments to our patients, who would not normally have access to groundbreaking research and innovative therapies. This is one way we are making healthier, more equitable offerings a priority for those we serve.

At GVHC, we are doing amazing things to serve our community and we have a lot to celebrate. Take a look at our lineup of National Health Center Week events happening in August. We hope to see you there!

BREAKING BARRIERS & CULTIVATING COMMUNITY

As Golden Valley Health Centers (GVHC) continues to advance whole-person services, innovation remains central in patient communication. With nearly half (49%) of GVHC patients preferring Spanish, providing information in both English and Spanish is essential to promoting health equity and providing high quality patient care.

To support this commitment, GVHC has implemented the use of auditory translation devices at community events, including the Central Valley PACE Diabetes Education Night and town halls in Patterson, Modesto, & Los Banos.

GVHC Community Health Workers/Promotores (CHW/Ps), GVHC staff who specialize in community health education and outreach, play a key role in the translation process at these events. CHW/Ps interpret English presentations in Spanish, speaking directly through a transmitter that relays the live translations to the event participants' in-ear receivers. Presentations and group discussions are facilitated in both languages simultaneously, supporting comprehension and encouraging community participation.

Yamilet Valladolid, MPH, GVHC Director of Government and Community Affairs, highlights the importance of this translation process to bolster health education.

“Health education is critical to empowering our community, as it will help them make informed decisions about their health. People with higher health literacy are more likely to engage in preventative health measures, manage chronic health conditions, and follow treatment plans accurately, resulting in reduced rates of illness and hospitalization. Advancing health education improves health outcomes.”

GVHC continues to explore the ways in which technology can be used as tools to enhance patient care. Breaking down language barriers fosters accessibility and inclusivity within Central Valley communities.

FROM PATIENT TO PARTNER: MY JOURNEY ON GVHC'S ADVISORY BOARD

BY LUCIANA CHAVEZ

The first meeting I attended as a member of the Golden Valley Health Centers Patient Advisory Board, I rolled in on my knee scooter and looked around the conference room. I quickly realized that the GVHC staff outnumbered the clients who had been recruited to take part. I thought, Where is everyone?

Patients had committed to sharing their experiences interacting with GVHC staff, services and infrastructure. GVHC staff had committed to listening and working to improve things. The fact that there were more of them there than us that first night showed me how much they meant it.

I had been urged to apply for a spot on the GVHC Patient Advisory Board by one of my doctors. I have seen this particular GVHC doctor biweekly for a good chunk of the last six years while recovering from several surgeries that he performed on me. Except, at each of these appointments, we discuss my medical status for 3 minutes and spend the other 17 sorting out (1) how to train more locals to become local health care practitioners and (2) how the Le Grand (CA) High School Medical Academy (LGHS) fits into that process.

I accepted a spot on the board so I could share the LGHS story and make contacts with a local health care organization for our school. Opening on GVHC initiatives got me through the door. Turns out that it also got me out of the house. Yes, I'm serious. I'm in charge of caring for my elderly parents, who are 88 years old. My dad, who moves and thinks more slowly every day. My mom, who has Alzheimer's disease and hasn't remembered any of us for years. It's a heavy, heavy thing to be in charge of. It's all-consuming. You feel stuck inside your home and the space inside of your own head.

So, while participating on the patient advisory board, I got to sit with other people and share concerns and compliments about receiving care. We were all searching for validation, for advocates and, yes, for hope.

All of a sudden I wasn't alone, not for those two hours every few months. And we were working with GVHC leaders who could actually do something about our concerns. It was not, and is not, a one-way exchange. The advisory board is a collaboration.

That takes me back to the beginning. I saw that GVHC had a sincere desire to improve how it operates for its patients. Then I saw those people do the work. I know they remain committed to patients and the process. I feel like my time on the board was productive. So, how else could I roll myself out of that last conference room? I left with energy, feeling informed and stronger for my own fight.

Luciana Chavez was a member of Golden Valley Health Centers' first Patient Advisory Committee. We invite you to participate, please visit our website: gvhc.org/patient-advisory-committee/

CLINIC UPDATES

Stockton Community Health Complex

Golden Valley Health Centers' new building in Stockton, California, will house a Program of All Inclusive Care for the Elderly (PACE), as well as an Urgent Care, GVHC Pharmacy, and a Specialty Clinic.

Significant improvements and renovation work will begin this summer. The clinic and PACE program are slated to open in the summer or fall of 2026.

Remodels Coming Soon

As time passes, many of our clinics are remodeled to meet the highest standards of excellence in care. This year, the GVHC health centers in Le Grand, Dos Palos, and Planada will be remodeled. Appointments at these clinical locations will be rescheduled to nearby clinics or provided on site with a GVHC mobile medical van. Please watch our website and social media for updates and project timelines.

West Modesto Pharmacy

While some national pharmacy chains are going out of business, GVHC Pharmacy is thriving and growing! For GVHC patients, using a GVHC pharmacy only makes sense. Our providers can communicate directly with our pharmacy on your behalf, you can pick up a prescription at the same location where your appointment is scheduled and delivery may be available to your home! Feel free to visit our first pharmacy in Modesto at the beautifully remodeled 6th Street clinic located at:
1114 6th St. Modesto, CA 95354

Wellness on Wheels

GVHC is proud to be expanding our Mobile Medical Care program. This fall, two new GVHC Wellness on Wheels mobile medical units will be rolling out into the community, providing routine and urgent medical care to those who struggle to get to a clinic. This convenient care option will be offered throughout the tri-county area, with dates and locations on our website.

EXPANDING OUR SPECIALTY OFFERINGS

Golden Valley Health Centers is committed to broadening access to specialty care for our patients. This year we've expanded services in several key areas:

Wound Care

Available at our McHenry Suites in Modesto, Wound Care is provided as part of our rehabilitation services. A physical therapist with over 30 years of specialized experience delivers treatment for leg ulcers, burns, and a variety of other complex wounds.

Rainbow Clinic

Located within the Modesto Paradise Clinic, the Rainbow Clinic offers a welcoming and inclusive healthcare environment for LGBTQ+ patients. Services include Hormone Therapy, Family Planning, PrEP (Pre-Exposure Prophylaxis), Specialty Referrals, and access to community resources.

Neurology

GVHC is adding Neurology to two locations later this year. The neurologist will diagnose and treat a wide range of conditions affecting the brain, spinal cord, peripheral nerves, and muscles. This service will enhance our ability to support patients with nerve-related conditions and diseases.

Rheumatology

In partnership with Kaiser Permanente, GVHC is proud to offer rheumatology services at our Modesto McHenry clinic. Rheumatology focuses on the diagnosis and treatment of musculoskeletal diseases and systemic autoimmune conditions, including arthritis, lupus, gout, and other disorders that cause inflammation, swelling, and chronic pain. Access to this specialty care is essential for managing conditions that significantly impact mobility, comfort, and quality of life.

Physical and Occupational Therapy

GVHC's Physical and Occupational Therapy services help patients manage pain, improve mobility, and prevent injury. Skilled therapists use stretching exercises, hands-on therapy, and specialized equipment to treat both acute and chronic conditions—promoting overall health and wellness.

Endocrinology

GVHC will soon introduce Endocrinology services to support the diagnosis and treatment of conditions related to the endocrine system, which produces and regulates hormones controlling many body functions. This addition will allow us to better address health concerns such as diabetes, thyroid disorders, infertility, and more.

TOGETHER, WE CAN HELP PROTECT THEM

HPV VACCINE FOR PRETEENS & TEENS

The HPV vaccine protects girls and boys against cancers caused by HPV infection.

Why does my child need the HPV vaccine?

Human papillomavirus (HPV) vaccine helps protect against cancer. HPV is a common virus that infects about 14 million teens and adults each year. HPV can cause cancer of the cervix, vagina, vulva, penis, anus, mouth, and throat.

Is the HPV vaccine safe for my child?

The HPV vaccine provides safe, effective, and long-lasting protection against cancers caused by HPV. The HPV vaccine has a strong safety record and has been studied for more than ten years.

When should my child be vaccinated?

Children who are 9 to 12 years old should get two HPV shots. The second shot is given 6 to 12 months after the first shot. Getting HPV shots as a preteen helps your child be protected long before being exposed to HPV. Teens and young adults should get the vaccine too. Everyone through age 26 should get the HPV vaccine.

The facts:

- HPV can cause cancer in both men and women.
- HPV does not always show symptoms. People can have it and not know it.

BRINGING INNOVATION TO HOME CARE

Central Valley PACE Introduces Virtual Pet Technology

At Central Valley PACE, we're always exploring new ways to enhance the care and comfort of our senior participants. One of our latest innovations is a partnership with Care Coach, a company that uses smart technology to support seniors in their homes.

Through this partnership, some participants are now using a virtual pet on a tablet—a fun and friendly companion that talks, plays games, gives helpful reminders, and offers emotional support. This pet is powered by advanced technology and follows each participant's personalized care plan.

But this virtual pet is more than just a cute face—it plays a meaningful role in daily care:

- Reminds participants about meals and medications
- Shares healthy meal suggestions
- Connects users with their care team through video calls
- Provides 24/7 support and conversation
- Speaks both English and Spanish

Currently, this program is being piloted at our locations with a small group of participants. It's one more way Central Valley PACE is working to keep seniors independent, connected, and well cared for—right from home.

Vito, one of our PACE participants in Modesto, has been using the Care Coach virtual pet—and he loves it! He shared that it's made a real difference in his daily life, helping him feel like he has a companion and no longer feels alone at home.

Empowering Seniors

Central Valley PACE is dedicated to empowering older adults. We work closely with eligible seniors, their families, and the community to enhance health, dignity, quality of life, and independence. Together, we strive to ensure our participants thrive within their communities.

BRIDGING BORDER'S, EXPANDING CARE

Golden Valley Health Centers (GVHC) is proud to participate in the Licensed Physicians from Mexico Program—an unprecedented initiative bringing experienced, Spanish-speaking doctors to underserved areas across California.

Although Latinos make up nearly 40% of California's population, only 8% of the state's medical school graduates identify as Latino, according to the California Health Care Foundation (CHCF). California also lacks both the number of medical schools and residency positions necessary to produce a physician workforce that reflects its diverse population.

To help address this gap, in September 2024, Governor Gavin Newsom signed Assembly Bill 2860 into law, establishing the Licensed Physicians and Dentists from Mexico Program. This initiative is designed to combat the ongoing physician shortage—particularly in underserved areas such as the San Joaquin Valley—by allowing qualified, licensed medical professionals from Mexico to practice in California for up to three years.

This legislation demonstrates California's commitment to innovative, inclusive solutions to healthcare workforce shortages. It leverages international collaboration to expand access to medical services in the communities that need them most.

Many hospitals and clinics serving farmworkers and their families face ongoing challenges in recruiting and retaining English-speaking physicians—let alone Spanish-speaking providers with cultural alignment.

Originally launched as a pilot and now authorized through 2040, this program will help close critical gaps in culturally competent primary care. Beginning in 2026, GVHC plans to recruit 12 new physicians from Mexico, with additional cohorts anticipated every three years.

Key Features of the Program

Eligibility and Licensing:

Beginning January 1, 2025, the Medical Board of California is authorized to issue a limited number of nonrenewable, three-year licenses to eligible physicians from Mexico.

Placement in Underserved Areas:

Licensed participants will work in federally qualified health centers (FQHCs) throughout California, with a focus on regions that face significant health workforce shortages.

Language Proficiency:

Applicants must demonstrate English proficiency through standardized exams such as an Occupational English Test—replacing the previous requirement of enrolling in English language courses.

Training and Oversight:

Participating providers must complete orientation in electronic health records and charting standards. Clinics employing these providers are required to maintain peer review processes and partner with accredited medical schools or residency programs.

Program Evolution:

AB 2860 builds on a 2002 pilot that successfully brought 30 physicians and 30 dentists from Mexico to serve in California's health centers.

Why this Program Matters

This program means better access to care for our patients, improved communication with our diverse patient population and stronger cultural connections with those we serve.

GVHC anticipates positive impacts for patients resulting from this medical cultural exchange. Adapting services to meet the needs of patients, through programs like this is truly vital to improving the quality of care. These programs foster mutual understanding, empathy, and cross-cultural competency among medical professionals. By exposing providers to diverse health beliefs, traditions, and communication styles, they are better equipped to treat patients with cultural humility—reducing bias, stereotyping, and miscommunication.

Golden Valley Health Centers expects to launch the Physicians from Mexico program in April of 2026.

DOCTORS FROM MEXICO PROGRAM

"This program helps us meet a growing need for primary care while reflecting the cultural heritage of the people we serve. A delegation from our health center recently returned from Mexico City, where we planned for implementation and built relationships to support a successful, sustainable program launch. The visit included in-person interviews with prospective physicians, exploration of Mexico's public and private healthcare systems, and meaningful discussions with healthcare leaders to better understand the structure of their medical residency programs."
